

Kristi Quinn (Dakota City, NE) has been active in community theatre for over 30 years. Her theatre experience includes acting, directing, set decoration, and costume design as well as public relations, grant writing, and development. She has adjudicated a number of festivals, including the 2017 national AACTFest, and has participated as a core committee member and chair of several state and regional festivals. Quinn has served as instructor / facilitator for AACT Adjudication workshop and for the Texas Network of Theatres. She has served as executive director of the Sioux City Community Theatre, and development director of the Sioux City Art Center. She leads the theatre and speech programs at the Sergeant Bluff-Luton Community Schools. She was on the board member of the Nebraska Association of Community Theatre and the Sioux City Community Theatre. Formerly the American Association of Community Theatre (AACT) Vice President for Festivals, Kristi also served for six years as the Region V Representative. Quinn is currently serves as president the AACT Board of Directors.